Which poets wrote the best sad, dark, melancholic poems in the English language? Some of the best poems of all time are sad, dark, haunting poems about suffering, despair, loss and death. At the time this ancient poem was composed, printed books, eyeglasses, mechanical clocks, compasses and firearms either did not exist in Europe, or were recently-invented novelties. And the flush toilet was just a "pipe dream" (pardon the pun)! Sappho, fragment 58 translation by Michael R. Burch. Pain drains me to the last drop. I shall not see the shadows, I shall not feel the rain; I shall not hear the nightingale Sing on, as if in pain: And dreaming through the twilight That doth not rise nor set, Haply I may remember, And haply may forget. Dark Poems about Life. Sadness and darkness are natural cousins. Since ancient times, people have worn black to express their grief. Happiness is attracted to sunshine and depression to darkness. There is a certain romance in darkness and melancholy. There is something mysterious about that which is hidden and unknown. Dark poems may seek to romanticize sadness and depression. Other dark poems are simply poems about sad subjects. The poem "The Raven" by Edgar Allan Poe is an example of a delightfully spooky dark poem. There is much room for creativity in this genre.
